Mrs. Sally Brown joins Springwood Faculty

Springwood is excited to welcome our new Jr. High science teacher, Mrs. Sally Brown. Mrs. Brown comes to Springwood with a Bachelor's degree in Biology Education from Auburn University and 16 years of teaching experience with middle and high school students. Over this summer, Mrs. Brown has studied to earn her Google Educator Certification.

Mrs. Brown has expressed her excitement about presenting material creatively to her students in ways that address various learning styles. Outside of the classroom, Sally enjoys reading and running. This year she has run two half marathons and will soon begin training to run a full marathon in January of 2019.

She has been married to her husband, Bobby Brown, for 14 years and has a son, Cooper, and daughter, Molly. Mrs. Brown be teaching High School Science classes this year at Springwood.

Headmaster, Rick Johnson, spoke of Mrs. Brown saying, "We are blessed to have Mrs. Sally Brown begin at Springwood this year. She has a very successful record of teaching science to middle and high school students. Mrs. Brown will be noted for her high level of enthusiasm along with her commitment to excellence in her endeavors."
